REDUCTION IN THE NUMBER OF BILLS PAID BY TREASURIES.

The number of bills presented to Treasuries for payment admits of considerable reduction and any such reduction will give much relief not only to Treasuries but also to the Audit Office. Even the drawing officers will get some relief as they will have to scrutinize a smaller number of bills under this arrangement. If the following suggestions are given effect to, the number of bills paid will be reduced by at least one-third in each Treasury which will mean a great relief to the Treasury and the Audit Office.

2. The pay of all the non-gazetted officers except Amildars whose pay is drawn at present on separate bills like gazetted officers, may be drawn along with the establishments on which they are borne. The change has already been proposed separately and accepted by the Finance Committee.

3. The pay of temporary establishments may be drawn in the same bill as that of the permanent establishment. There seems to be no harm in drawing the pay of the two establishments together and no difficulty is likely to be experienced in audit. All that is required is that the temporary establishment should be shown separately in the bill as a separate section of the establishment and the Audit Register will show the scale of the two classes separately.

4. The fixed contingent charges of Taluk Revenue and Police offices are at present drawn on separate contingent bills. In future they should be included and drawn on establishment bills along with the pay of the establishments concerned as required by the note to Article 74 of the Civil Account Code. The contingent charges of some Educational institutions, though of a fixed nature, are drawn on Abstract contingent bills and accounted for in Detailed contingent bills. The amounts involved are all small and may also be drawn along with the pay of the respective establishments as was done formerly. In fact wherever the charges are fixed and not of the nature of contract grant to be drawn upon only to the extent of the actual expenditure, they should be drawn with the pay of the establishment concerned.

5. The bills for grants-in-aid to elementary and other schools form a considerable number and are increasing year by year. At present a bill for each institution is prepared and presented for payment at the Treasury countersigned by the District Inspector of Education. One consolidated bill for all the institutions in a taluk may be prepared by the District Inspector and sent to the Amildar for encashment and disbursement in the same way as he disburses at present the pay of the teachers of Village Elementary Schools.

6. The simplest arrangement in both cases will be for the Treasury to issue through the Post Office a money order for each payment in favour of the party concerned and for the Deputy Inspector to verify the money order acknowledgments, when received. This will however involve some extra expenditure on money order commission. Personally, I am for incurring this small extra expenditure as it will save trouble all round and will ensure greater promptitude in the payments. I am not sure if the payees now receive their dues in full.

7. In this connection I would suggest that the Mysore Government should make a representation to the Government of India to obtain exemption from payment of commission on all money orders sent by it for its own purposes within its own territories. According to its agreement with the Government of India under which it transferred all its Post Offices to the Government of India, it is allowed to send all its correspondence within the State free of charge but no special provision was made in the agreement about money orders. The work connected with the transmission, payment and accounting of money orders is done by the Post Office but the arrangements for providing the Post Offices in the State with the funds required to enable them to make payments for money orders, where these payments exceed the collections at the Post Office concerned, and for moving the surplus where the transactions of the Post Office concerned including receipts and payments on account of money orders leave a surplus, devolve on the State and the expenses and trouble involved is not inconsiderable. A statement is appended showing the amounts paid by the Post Offices into the several treasuries in Mysore including their subordinate Taluk Treasuries as well as the amounts withdrawn by the Post Office from them during each of the 12 months of the year 1915-16. This shows that but for the facilities given by the Mysore State, the Post Office would have found it necessary to move 49 lakhs of rupees from one place to another, the bulk of the movement necessary being from the remote corners of the State to Bangalore. At present the sums required by the deficit Post Offices are supplied by the Mysore State and the receipts of the surplus Post Offices are all collected and the net surplus is paid to the Government of India at Bangalore every month. I would therefore suggest that statistics of the remittances made by the Post Offices in Mysore for two or three years should be collected and the postal agreement looked into and a case should be made out for claiming exemption from payment of commission on all money orders sent by the State for its own purposes from one Post Office to another within the State. The benefits which the Government of India derive by collecting the Savings of the people through its Savings Banks should also be pointed out.

8. Remuneration to copyists and examiners in Civil and Criminal Courts which is now drawn in a separate bill supported by the foils of the stamp paper may be drawn with other contingent expenditure on abstract contingent bills and accounted for in detailed contingent bills. The foils need not be submitted with the bills but may be destroyed by the drawing officers who should be required to record on the bill a certificate that they have actually counted and personally destroyed the stamp foils and have satisfied themselves that the amount charged in the bill corresponds exactly with the amount payable on the foils destroyed. The counting of the foils which is now being done thrice, i.e., once in the Court before the bill is signed by the presiding Judge, once in the Treasury before encashment and lastly in the Audit Office, where they are destroyed, may be left to the Judges themselves. In the case of Taluk Magistrates' Courts, the amounts may be paid from the imprest and recouped at the end of the month in the same way as other charges including batta to witnesses, etc. No difficulty will be realised as payment is made only once a month after its close.

9. The pay of each vaccinator is drawn separately now, on bills countersigned by the Deputy Inspector of Vaccination. Since each taluk has got a Local Fund Dispensary, the pay of the vaccinator may be drawn along with the pay of the establishment of the dispensaries. Whatever check is now exercised by the Deputy Inspector of Vaccination on these bills may be exercised by the officer who draws the Local Fund Dispensary bills.

10. Charges for refunds such as the refund of the value of Stamps, Registration fees, Mysore Local Service Examination fees, may be made from the permanent advance of the offices concerned and recouped by means of contingent bills. The stamp papers may be sent along with the contingent bills. The charges will be audited on the same page of the Audit Register though debited to the respective major heads. The inclusion of charges debitable to different major heads in the same bill will not be in strict conformity with rules but the rules are only means to an end and may be modified to suit local conditions.

11. The Malnad and Ghat batta paid to the Policemen and allowances paid to the Totis for watching outposts may be drawn along with the pay of the Police force.

12. Separate Pension schedules one for each kind of pension is unnecessary and may be dispensed with. There should be separate money columns in the same schedule for different kinds of pensions which are chargeable to different kinds of accounts. Where the number of pensions of each class is very small, such classes may be clubbed together in one column. This will enable the charges to be classified in the Audit Office without any difficulty.

13. Pay of the Taluk Excise clerk which is now drawn separately may be included in the pay bill of the Taluk establishment.

14. Besides, there are some petty establishments under the control of the same officer for which separate bills are prepared. They may all be clubbed together and drawn in one bill.

15. The vouchers of the Bangalore District Treasury for June 1916, were examined on the above lines with the result that out of 2,724 vouchers paid during the month, it was found that the preparation and encashment of 782 separate vouchers as per Statement A hereto appended would be avoided. The number of vouchers at present is, hence, 40 per cent more than what it need be.

16. The effect of the above suggestions on the aggregate number of payments to be made in any one month in all the Treasuries is shown in Statement B.

17. It is possible to effect further reductions in the number of payments and vouchers if fixed travelling allowance be allowed in all those cases in which the duties are solely of the nature of inspection, e. g., Inspectors of Co-operative Societies, District and Assistant Inspectors of Schools, etc., as is done in Madras.

18. I think there are other possible ways in which the number of vouchers may be further reduced. The very short time at my disposal has not enabled me to go through the whole of the accounts in detail, especially those of the Military and other special departments. I leave it to the Comptroller to go into the question in greater detail and to suggest the means by which the number could be further reduced.

K. L. DATTA.

Comptroller's Remarks

Reduction in the number of bills paid by treasuries.

Para 2.

The pay of permanent and temporary establishments of the same office may be drawn on one bill.

Para 4.

Fixed contingent charges have to be drawn on the respective establishment bills and this rule will be strictly followed in future.

Para 5 and 7.

If Government money orders are permitted by the Postal Department to be sent free of charge of the best arrangement for disbursement of grants-in-aid to Municipalities and other schools in mofussil through the Post Office. Pending settlement of this question by correspondence with the Government of India the agency of Chaukidars may be employed for disbursement of those grants-in-aid and the grants drawn on bills, one for each sub-division instead of one for each institution.

Para 8.

The procedure prescribed in this para in regard to the grant of remuneration to convicts and examiners in civil and criminal Courts is very desirable. It is best to leave the work of destroying the files of used stamp papers to the judges themselves and not certificates from them as to their having done the work personally.

Para 9.

I see no objection to the Sub-Registrar incurring in charge of local funds disbursements and disbursing the pay of Inspectors within their jurisdictions. This can be done not interfere either any control that the superior officers of the Vaccination Department should exercise over the work of vaccinators.

Para 16.

The refunds mentioned in this para may be made from imprests and accounted for on contingent bills

Paras 11, 12, 13 and 14.

The suggestions made in these paras may all be adopted.

Para 17.

It is possible to pay one of the touring officers permanent monthly allowances instead of daily allowance and mileage for the actual bills and journeys made each month the appointment will largely simplify audit and reduce the burden of vouchers now.

Para 18.

Possibility of neither a burden of number of vouchers will be entailed. Scholarships paid to students reading in schools and Colleges are now drawn on contingent bills. They may hereafter be drawn on the establishment bills of the respective institutions.
